The burgess of Middletown shall, at least forty days before the time of election in each election year, issue a call for a nominating convention, to be composed of the residents of the town who may attend the same, and who shall be entitled to vote in the coming election. The nominating convention shall be held at some public place in the town, to be designated by the burgess, notice of which shall be published in a newspaper of general circulation in the town at least four days prior to the time of the holding of such convention, giving the time and place thereof which convention shall be held not later than thirty days prior to the date of election.

The convention shall nominate not less than one nor more than two candidates for burgess and not less than one nor more than two candidates for each commissioner's position to be voted upon at the forthcoming election.

Each aspirant for the office of burgess or commissioner in the town who shall not have been nominated by the nominating convention may file with the town administrator, not later than twenty days before the election, excluding Sunday, nominating papers for the office for which they may be aspiring, in writing, signed by at least forty of the qualified voters of the town. No signature shall be counted if it shall appear upon the nomination papers of more than one candidate for the office of burgess or more than the exact number of candidates for commissioner to be voted on at that election.

Only those persons nominated by the convention or by the petition shall be considered valid candidates for municipal office. Only the votes for candidates so nominated shall be counted.
