

Did you know.....

Over many decades Middletown has created parks to meet the recreational needs of the community. Today there is close to 2,200 square feet of parkland for every resident in town, which exceeds the 1,500 square feet amount typically found in towns and cities throughout America.

Under the town's current development rules, new parkland will be added when future neighborhoods are built.